

Bright Ideas in Health Awards 2021

Category: Research Impact Award

This category is open to organisations in the North East and North Cumbria and is sponsored by NIHR Clinical Research Network North East and North Cumbria

This award will be presented to the research team of an NIHR Portfolio study that has demonstrated innovation in the way a study has been delivered during the pandemic across the North East and North Cumbria. Examples could include: innovative staffing models, adapting processes, or delivering a service in a different way e.g. virtual or home-based

As part of the entry criteria for the Research Impact Award, please ensure you address the following:

1. Clearly outline the problem that the research team encountered with delivering a study during the pandemic.
2. Describe what you did to solve the problem.
3. What was the outcome of the change you made?
4. What did you learn that will help deliver studies in the future?

Entries will be assessed on the following:

Innovation: originality of the approach

Value: impact of the initiative on study delivery

Patient focus: evidence that patient/service user need was central to the solution

Collaboration: evidence of the involvement of other professionals, services and/or patients/service users in the project

Leadership: evidence of entrants sharing their innovation in their organisation or more widely

The deadline for entries is Monday 13th September 2021
